

MORE THAN A MEMORY . . .

The Mighty Eighth Air Force Columbarium is located to the north of the Chapel of the Fallen Eagles in the Memorial Garden of the Mighty Eighth Air Force Museum, 175 Bourne Avenue, Pooler, Georgia 31322. The Columbarium area is known as "The Garden of Folded Wings." It will provide 384 niches for permanent storage of cremains in a tasteful, secure setting.

The niches are available to the general public, but preference is given to veterans and the immediate family members of the Eighth Air Force. The Columbarium is designed to meet the needs of the Eighth Air Force community.

Just as the Museum provides an enduring repository for materials and artifacts that tell the stories of these brave servicemen, the Columbarium provides a permanent resting place for them and their immediate family members.

Our Mission

The Mighty Eighth Air Force Museum preserves for all Americans, the stories of courage, character, and patriotism embodied by the men and women of the Eighth Air Force from World War II to the present. The Museum treasures and teaches these values for the nation's future generations.

Our Vision

Our Vision is a nation that understands the price that was paid for freedom and the sacrifices made by America's air forces in maintaining that freedom against the evils of fascism, communism, and terrorism.

The Garden of Folded Wings will provide a reverent and unique final resting place for those who recognize and support the importance of the role of the heroes of the Mighty Eighth Air Force.
